Literacy Information

Letters have been sent out to all year groups this week regarding pupils' reading ages. These letters give information about the current reading age of all pupils in college and our plan is to improve these. Parents and carers have their part to play in supporting their children and there is suggested age-appropriate material on the reverse of the letter to help with this. If a pupil doesn't have access to books at home, the school library is available throughout the day for all pupils. The best way to improve reading ages is to engage in reading! Thank you in anticipation of your support with this.

Ms Gilligan, Head of English.

MFL News

Linguists of the week

Maisy Stevens 7F wrote a long piece about herself using most of what she has done in French since September as part of her revision towards the end of year test. Her work was superb and I feel very proud of what Maisy has achieved this year due to her consistent hard work and positive attitude in lessons!

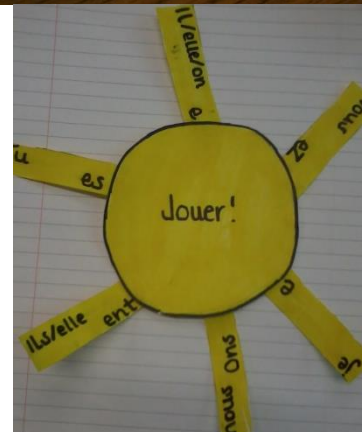

It took no time to Courtney Nickerson, 7F, to write a long piece of work in French today. She was also happy to help and support some classmates when she had finished her work. Well done!

French Grammar is Fun!

7H and 7F have just learned how to conjugate French verbs and have done some very creative homework to help them remember verb endings. Here are a few excellent examples from Kian Beck, Sam Cassidy and Olivia Barnett. Please visit our MFL Twitter account @mflasc to see more of this great work!

Accelerated Reader of the Week

This week we have not one but THREE Accelerated Readers of the Week! Nicole Ordon, Francesca Gregory-Davies and Tisha Choksi all achieved word millionaire status recently. This means that they have read approximately the equivalent of Oliver Twist 120 times since September! All three girls are wonderful role models with an exemplary, positive attitude to reading.
